- Solid financial position reflecting a strong balance sheet and cash flow
- First-half year results face challenging prior year comparables

Nancy McKinstry, CEO and Chairman of the Executive Board, commented on the company's first quarter trading update:

"The company continues to see resilience in its first quarter profitability despite challenging economic conditions in North America and Europe which have impacted the buying decisions of our professional customers. Regardless of these challenges, the professionals we serve continued to demand new and innovative solutions to improve their productivity. We continued to address these needs and as a result revenues from online and software solutions exceeded 50% of total revenues in the quarter. Retention rates on subscription products were largely in line with the prior year while new subscription sales and sales on transactional products were weak as anticipated at the beginning of the year and from delayed customer purchase decisions. Despite these conditions, the ordinary EBITA margin in the first quarter was in line with the prior year due to earlier cost containment actions, the continued migration of revenues from print to electronic products, the benefits of the Springboard operational excellence program and the contribution of higher margin acquisitions completed in the prior year. First-quarter cash flow was in line with expectations, and integration of prior year acquisitions is on track. The resilient portfolio and strong cash generation continue to support a solid financial position."

Wolters Kluwer continues its commitment to invest approximately 8% to 10% of its revenues in new and enhanced products to support its long term strategy of profitable growth. Several new products were launched in the first quarter including IntelliConnect™, the first commercial implementation of its Global Atlas online content delivery and publishing platform. IntelliConnect™ is an innovative research platform first introduced to customers in the U.S. The research platform will be implemented next in the Asia Pacific, U.K., and Canadian markets.

Management expects the comparables for the first-half year results will be challenging and current weak economic conditions will continue through the remainder of 2009. Despite these conditions management continues to expect that full-year ordinary EBITA margin will be broadly in line with 2008 levels and ordinary diluted earnings per share will be between €1.41 and €1.46 in constant currencies. This performance will be supported by the company's strong subscription base, growing online and software portfolio, and cost containment programs.

Reiterated 2009 Outlook

Key Performance Indicators	2009 Guidance
Ordinary EBITA margin	Broadly in line with 2008
Free cash flow ¹	± €350 million
Return on invested capital	≥ 8%
Diluted ordinary earnings per share ¹	€1.41 to €1.46

Subscription and other non-cyclical revenues, which comprise approximately 71% of total annualized revenue, grew in the first quarter over the prior year, supported by stable retention rates and the contribution of prior year acquisitions. Subscription inventories at the beginning of the year improved in line with management expectations, however, new subscription sales experienced downward pressure in the first quarter as sales cycles lengthened due to uncertain economic conditions. Management expects these conditions will continue through the remainder of the year. Book revenues, which total approximately 11% of total annualized revenue, continued to be impacted by weak economic conditions as noted at the close of the prior year.

Cyclical product revenues, representing approximately 18% of total annualized revenue, were mixed in the first quarter. As expected, transactional revenues in the Corporate & Financial Services division, which make up approximately 6% of total annualized revenue, continued to be under pressure due to liquidity constraints in the financial markets. M&A, IPO, and UCC transaction revenue reflected reduced transaction volumes in the market. However, mortgage transaction volumes began to show signs of recovery. Mortgage transactions have posted modest improvements compared to the prior year as lower interest rates in the U.S. have prompted an increase in refinancing activity. Transaction products related to other consumer lending volumes continued to be under pressure due to the general economic environment.

Advertising and pharma promotion revenues, which account for approximately 7% of total annualized revenue, continued to be challenged due to the weak general economic environment and contraction in promotion spending in the pharmaceutical sector - the impacts being primarily in Pharma Solutions and journals in the Health division and France and The Netherlands in the Legal, Tax & Regulatory Europe division. Other cyclical revenues posted first quarter results largely in line with the prior year and include training, consulting, and transport services.

Solid Financial Position

The resilient portfolio and strong cash generation continue to support a solid financial position. The company has a strong liquidity position with headroom in excess of the company's €500 million policy minimum. Debt was refinanced in early 2008 at attractive interest rates pushing maturities out beyond 2013. The net debt to EBITDA ratio was reduced in the first quarter in keeping with management's intention to move closer to its target of 2.5 times net debt to EBITDA over the medium term.

Springboard

The Springboard operational excellence program is on track in the first quarter to deliver the expected full year 2009 cost savings of €55 million. The program is designed to further business optimization initiatives resulting in sustainable margin growth. Annualized run rate savings estimates are expected to reach €120 million by 2011. Savings are expected to result largely from standardized technology platforms and consolidated IT infrastructure, streamlined content manufacturing processes, expanded global sourcing programs, offshore service centers for software development and testing, and content production and back office support functions.

As the program represents numerous initiatives, the precise annual phasing of savings and costs is difficult to predict. However, the following table - as provided at the 2008 full-year results - represents current estimates.

Springboard Expansion and Acceleration summary savings and costs

€ millions (pre tax)	Actual 2008	Estimate 2009	Estimate 2010	Estimate 2011	Estimate Total
Cost savings	16	55	100	120	120
Exceptional program costs	45	55	45	35	180
