1. Management Report

1.1 Introduction

This report includes the 2012 Financial Statements of Deutsche Post Finance B.V. ("The Company").

1.2 Business activities

The principal activity of the Company consists of raising capital in order to lend funds to Deutsche Post DHL Group companies.

1.3 Legal relationships

General information

The Company was incorporated in the Netherlands, Rotterdam on 13 April 1999 and is now listed in the Commercial Register of the Chamber of Commerce in Maastricht under number 24.29.26.43. The Company is owned 100 % by Deutsche Post International B.V. in Maastricht, the Netherlands. Ultimate shareholder is Deutsche Post AG in Bonn, Germany.

Management Board

The Management Board currently consists of two members:

- Mr. Roland W. Buss
- Mr. Timo L.F. van Druten.

Business address

Pierre de Coubertinweg 7N, 6225 XT Maastricht.

1.4 Main business developments

The weak economy and the sovereign debt crisis in the euro zone had an impact on the 2012 bond markets. The yield on German ten-year government bonds declined in July to a new low of 1,17 %. On 25 June 2012, Deutsche Post Finance B.V. took advantage of the favourable market conditions and issued two bonds under its Debt Issuance Programme.

The 2012/2017 bonds with a nominal volume of EUR 750 million were placed with an issue price of 99,467% and a coupon of 1,875%. The 2012/2022 bonds with a nominal volume of EUR 500 million were issued with a price of 99,471% and a coupon of 2,950%.

The proceeds of the 2012/2017 bonds were swapped to USD. These USD funds were used to refinance the Group's US business. The proceeds of the 2012/2022 bonds were used to refinance the bonds having matured in October 2012.

On 20 November 2012, the DP DHL management board decided to increase the size of the Debt Issuance Programme from EUR 3 billion to EUR 5 billion. The management board of Deutsche Post Finance B.V. supported this increase in size in its resolution dated 21 November 2012.

The Company's 2012 result after taxation amounts to a gain of EUR 798.402. Excluding the net losses from hedge ineffectiveness, totalling EUR 183.003, the 2012 minimum margin result amounts to a gain of EUR 981.405.

The ineffectiveness recognized in the statement of comprehensive income results from strict hedge accounting requirements. As a consequence, a hedge instrument with a starting value that has been brought under hedge accounting results in some ineffectiveness. Based on market developments this can either be an income or expense.

The main risks affecting the Company are interest and currency risks. Interest risks as well as currency risks are hedged according to Deutsche Post DHL (the Group) guidelines by the Group's Central Treasury. The variety of instruments used for hedging purposes and the policies are described in the notes to the Financial Statements.

1.5 Diversity

Per 1 January 2013, Dutch corporate law has introduced standards with respect to gender diversity for executive and non-executive board positions at so called larger companies. The aim is that these companies pursue a policy of having at least 30% of board seats held by women and 30% of the board seats held by men. This specific clause in the law will cease to have effect on 1 January 2016.

The Company does not meet these standards per 31 December 2012 and there is no specific policy in place to actively strive for the gender diversity as mentioned in this provision in the law. When filling vacant board positions, the main consideration is and has been to select candidates on their suitability taking into account all aspects of the specific role, including relevant experience. No candidates have been excluded based on gender. Considering the very recent introduction of this statutory provision, the Company will evaluate the newly introduced standards over the coming year with the aim to decide if and how selection criteria should be amended.

1.6 Future business developments

As the Company is one of the most important financing vehicles of Deutsche Post DHL Group, the Group liquidity very much affects the business development of the Company.

Deutsche Post DHL anticipates a deterioration of its liquidity in the first half of 2013 as a result of the recurring annual prepayment due to the Bundes-Pensions-Service für Post und Telekommunikation in January and the dividend payment for the financial year 2012 in May.

However the Group's operating liquidity situation will improve again significantly towards the end of the year due to the upturn in business that is normal in the second half of the year. For further information, on the Group's liquidity situation it is referred to the Deutsche Post DHL Annual Report 2012.

In view of the January 2014 maturity of EUR 925.800.000 of the bonds issued in 2003 by Deutsche Post Finance B.V. we will explore the option to refinance these bonds under the Debt Issuance Programme if necessary.

(2) Basis of accounting

The Financial Statements have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) as adopted by the European Union and also comply with the financial reporting requirements included in section 9 of Book 2 of the Netherlands Civil Code. The Financial Statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention, as modified by the revaluation of available-for-sale financial assets, financial assets and financial liabilities held at fair value through profit or loss, and all derivative contracts.

The preparation of Financial Statements in conformity with IFRS requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise its judgment in the process of applying the Company’s accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgment or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the Financial Statements, are disclosed in note 11.

(3) Foreign currencies

Transactions in currencies other than Euro are recorded at the rates of exchange prevailing on the dates of the transactions. At each balance sheet date, monetary assets and liabilities that are denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the rates prevailing on the balance sheet date. Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions and from the translation of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at year end exchange rates are recognised in the income statement except when deferred in equity as qualifying cash flow hedges.

(4) Loans receivable

Financial instruments are contractual obligations that give rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument in another entity. These include both primary and derivative financial instruments. Primary financial instruments include in particular bank balances, all receivables, financial liabilities, securities, loans and accrued interest. Examples of derivatives include options, swaps and futures.

Financial assets include financial instruments, which under IAS 39 are classified as “loans and receivables”.

The classification depends on the purpose for which the financial assets were acquired. Management determines the classification of its financial assets at initial recognition.

No loans receivable have been classified as “available for sale” or “held to maturity” in 2011 or 2012.

Financial instruments classified as loans and receivables, which include long-term loans, are initially measured at fair value and subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method. Impairment losses on financial instruments classified as loans and receivables are charged to income if the recoverable amount falls below the carrying amount. They are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted on an active market.

All financial assets are recognized on the balance sheet, when the Company becomes a party to the contract by using trade date accounting. They are included in the current assets except for maturities greater than 12 months after the balance sheet date. These are classified as non-current assets.

The fair values of the loans have been calculated by applying the discounted cash flow method.

The carrying amounts of financial assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date to determine whether there is any indication of impairment. The Group first assesses whether objective evidence of impairment exists. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount is estimated as the higher of the net selling price and the value in use with an impairment loss being recognized whenever the carrying amount exceeds the recoverable amount.

The criteria that the Group uses to determine that there is objective evidence of an impairment loss include:

- Significant financial difficulty of the issuer or obligor;
- A breach of contract, such as a default or delinquency in interest or principal payments;
- The Group, for economic or legal reasons relating to the borrower's financial difficulty, granting to the borrower a concession that the lender would not otherwise consider;
- It becomes probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or other financial reorganization;
- The disappearance of an active market for that financial asset because of financial difficulties; or
- Observable data indicating that is a measurable decrease in the estimated future cash flows since initial recognition.

(5) Short-term receivables and payables

Receivables and payables are carried at amortized cost. The Company participates in the cash pooling of the Deutsche Post DHL Group. The Cash Pool balances at the balance sheet date are shown as Cash Pool receivables or Cash Pool payables to related parties (and not shown as cash and cash equivalents).

Fair values are considered to approximately match the carrying amounts of short-term receivables and payables.

Cash Pool receivables or Cash Pool payables to related parties are carried at amortized cost.

(6) Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are recognized on the balance sheet, when the Company becomes a party to the contract at fair value on inception. They are subsequently carried at amortized cost by applying the effective interest method. Accrued interest on the bonds is reported separately as a current liability.

The valuation of the bonds is derived from published market prices. The fair values of the other long-term liabilities have been calculated by applying the discounted cash flow method.

Financial liabilities under fair value hedge accounting are including an adjustment for the fair value of the risk being hedged.

(7) Provisions

Provisions are recognized for all legal or constructive obligations to third parties existing at the balance sheet date that have arisen as a result of past events, that are expected to result in an outflow of future economic benefits and whose amount can be measured reliably.

(8) Offsetting financial instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the balance sheet when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

(9) Derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting

All derivative financial instruments are recognized at fair value on the date a derivative contract is entered into and subsequently re-measured at fair value. The method of recognizing the resulting gain or loss depends on whether the instrument is designated as a hedging instrument.

To avoid variations in the net profit resulting from changes in the fair value of derivative financial instruments, hedge accounting is applied where possible. This concerns the interest swaps and cross-currency interest rate swaps.

If hedge accounting is applied, the net profit or loss from both the derivative and the related hedged item are simultaneously recognized in income. Depending on the hedged item and the risk to be hedged, the Company uses fair value hedges and cash flow hedges. The full fair value of a hedging derivative is classified as a non-current asset or liability when the remaining maturity of the hedged item is more than 12 months, and as a current asset or liability when the remaining maturity of the hedged item is less than 12 months.

Changes in the fair value of derivative financial instruments that do not qualify for hedge accounting are recognized in the income statement as they arise. Derivatives embedded in other financial instruments or other host contracts are treated as separate derivatives when their risks and characteristics are not closely related to those of host contracts and the host contracts are not carried at fair value with unrealized gains or losses reported in the income statement.

The Group documents at the inception of the transaction the relationship between hedging instruments and hedged items, as well as its risk management objectives and strategy for undertaking various hedging transactions. The Group also documents its assessment, both at hedge inception and on an ongoing basis, of whether the derivatives that are used in hedging transactions are highly effective in offsetting changes in fair values or cash flows of hedged items.

Fair value hedges

For an effective hedge of an exposure to changes in the fair value, the hedged item is adjusted for changes in fair value attributable to the risk being hedged with the corresponding entry in profit or loss. Gains or losses from re-measuring the derivative are also recognized in profit or loss. Accordingly, changes in the fair value of both the derivatives and the hedged item are simultaneously recognized in income or expense.

If the hedge no longer meets the criteria for hedge accounting, the adjustment to the carrying amount of a hedged item for which the effective interest method is used is amortised to profit and loss over the period to maturity.

Cash flow hedges

Changes in the fair value of derivative financial instruments that are designated and effective as hedges of future cash flows are recognized directly in other comprehensive income and the ineffective portion is recognized immediately in the income statement. The amounts deferred in equity are recognized in the income statement in the same period in which the hedged item affects net profit or loss.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. At that time, any cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument recognized in equity is retained in equity until the forecasted transaction affects profit or loss. If a hedged transaction is no longer expected to occur, the net cumulative gain or loss recognized in equity is transferred to net profit or loss for the period.

(10) Interest income and expense

Interest income is recognized on a time-proportion basis using the effective interest method. When loans and receivables are impaired, the Group reduces the carrying amount to its recoverable amount, being the estimated future cash flow discounted at the original effective interest rate of the instrument and continues to amortise the discount as interest income. Interest income on impaired loans is recognized using the original effective interest rate.

(11) Critical accounting estimates and judgments

The Company makes estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year. Estimates and judgments are continuously evaluated and based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

(a) Impairment losses on loans and advances

The Company reviews its loans to assess impairment at least on a yearly basis. In determining whether an impairment loss should be recorded in the income statement, the Company makes judgments as to whether there is any observable data indicating that there is a measurable decrease in the estimated future cash flows from a loan.

(b) Fair value of derivatives

The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market (for example, over-the-counter derivatives) is determined by using valuation techniques (level 2 of the IFRS 7 fair value hierarchy). These valuation techniques maximize the use of observable market data where it is available and rely as little as possible on entity specific estimates.

Changes in assumptions about these factors could affect reported fair value of financial instruments.

(12) Financial risk management

The capital managed by the company is fixed until existing bonds need to be redeemed or new bonds are being issued. In view of the Group's long term capital requirements, DP DHL established a Debt Issuance Programme with a volume of up to EUR 5 billion. Deutsche Post Finance B.V. is a possible issuer under the programme which offers the Company the possibility to issue bonds in customized tranches up to a stipulated total amount and enables it to react flexibly to changing market conditions.

The risk of default on loans granted to Deutsche Post DHL group companies is limited due to the financing support which, where circumstances require it, will be expressed by Deutsche Post AG to these group companies to support them in their ability to repay its liabilities towards Deutsche Post Finance B.V.

The equity of Deutsche Post Finance B.V. is not part of the managed capital of the company and only reflects the profits and losses resulting from the core activities of the company.

The principal activity of Deutsche Post Finance B.V. consists of raising capital in order to lend funds to Deutsche Post DHL Group companies. These activities result in financial risks that may arise from changes in exchange rates and interest rates. Both risks are hedged according to Deutsche Post DHL Group's guidelines by the Group's Central Treasury.

Internal guidelines govern the universe of actions, responsibilities and controls necessary for using derivatives. Suitable risk management software is used to record, assess and process hedging transactions. It is also used to regularly assess the effectiveness of the hedging relationships. Deutsche Post DHL Group only enters into hedging transactions with prime-rated banks. Each bank is assigned a counterparty limit, the use of which is regularly monitored.

The Group's Board of Management receives regular internal information on the existing financial risks and the hedging instruments deployed to limit them.

The fair values of the derivatives used may be subject to substantial fluctuations depending on changes in exchange rates and interest rates. These fluctuations in fair value are not to be viewed in isolation from the underlying transactions that are hedged. Derivatives and hedged transactions form a unity with regard to their offsetting value development.

Interest rate risk and interest rate management

Interest rate risk arises from changes in market interest rates for financial assets and financial liabilities. To quantify the risk profile, according to the Deutsche Post DHL Group guidelines, all interest-bearing receivables and liabilities are recorded, interest rate analyses are regularly prepared, and the potential effects on the net interest income are examined.

Deutsche Post DHL Group uses interest rate derivatives, such as interest rate swaps and options, to reduce financing costs and optimally manage and limit interest rate risks by adjusting the ratio of fixed to variable interest agreements.

At 31 December 2012 fixed rate bonds with a total notional volume of EUR 2.176 million were outstanding, maturing in 2014, 2017 and 2022. The bonds are used to finance fixed rate USD 1.143 million loans to DP DHL Group companies in the US and to grant floating interest rate EUR loans to other DP DHL Group companies. The related interest rate and or foreign currency risks have been fully hedged using cross-currency and interest rate swaps.

In 2004 Deutsche Post Finance B.V. granted a long term fixed interest USD loan with a notional volume of USD 200 million. In order to hedge the associated foreign currency risk, the entity entered into a combination of interest rate swaps and cross-currency interest rate swaps transforming the fixed USD receivable into a fixed Euro receivable (EUR 162 million). Cashflow hedge accounting is applied to the synthetical cross-currency interest rate swap.

A total of EUR 763 million of the bonds maturing in 2014 has been transformed into a floating rate liability with a fixed to float receiver interest rate swap. For this interest rate swap fair value hedge accounting is applied. The EUR 763 million have been used to finance floating rate EUR loans to DP DHL Group companies which fall due in 2014.

The proceeds of the EUR 750 million bonds maturing in 2017 have been used to grant a fixed rate USD 943 million loan to a DP DHL Group company in the US. The respective foreign currency and interest rate risk was hedged using a fixed to fixed cross-currency interest rate swap. Cashflow hedge accounting is applied to these instruments.

The EUR 500 million bonds maturing in 2022 have been transformed into a floating rate liability with a fixed to float receiver interest rate swap. For this interest rate swap fair value hedge accounting is applied. The EUR 500 million have been used to finance floating rate EUR loans to DP DHL Group companies maturing in 2022.

IFRS 7 requires a company to disclose a sensitivity analysis, showing how profit and loss and equity are affected by hypothetical changes in interest rates at the reporting date. For the sensitivity analysis concerning the impact on profit and loss all primary variable rate financial instruments and the floating rate leg of the interest rate swaps have been taken into consideration. If the market interest rates as at 31 December 2012 would have been 100 basis points higher, net financial income would have increased by EUR 8.000 (2011: no impact). A 100 basis points decrease leads to the opposite effect (net financial income decreases by EUR 8.000).

For the sensitivity analysis concerning the impact on equity, all cashflow hedges have been considered. The change in market value of the EUR/USD fixed to fixed cross-currency interest rate swaps (cash flow hedge accounting) is insignificant assuming that the USD and EUR interest rates both move in parallel into the same direction. In such a scenario the change in market values of both legs would approximately offset each other. Therefore the equity impact is zero (2011: no impact).

Foreign exchange risk

Currency risks for the Company arise exclusively from its USD lending activities to the Deutsche Post DHL Group companies. According to the Deutsche Post DHL Group risk management guidelines the recorded currency risks arising from financial transactions are hedged in full.

These risks are hedged using financial derivatives, such as currency forwards, swaps and cross-currency interest rate swaps.

The Company does not use derivative instruments for speculative purposes.

IFRS 7 requires a company to disclose a sensitivity analysis, showing how profit and loss and equity are affected by hypothetical changes in exchange rates at the reporting date. In this process, the hypothetical changes in exchange rates are analysed in relation to the portfolio of financial instruments not denominated in the functional currency and being of monetary nature. It is assumed that the portfolio as at the reporting date is representative for the whole year.

The following assumptions are taken as a basis for the sensitivity analysis:

The company hedges the currency risk from primary monetary financial instruments with Deutsche Post AG using derivatives. Hypothetical changes in exchange rates affect the fair value of the derivatives recorded in profit and loss; they also affect the currency result from the measurement at closing date of the loans denominated in foreign currency. Both results have an offsetting effect in profit and loss.

Therefore an appreciation of the Euro against USD would have had no effects on profit or loss.

In addition, hypothetical changes in exchange rates affect equity and the fair value of the combination of interest rate swaps and cross-currency interest rate swaps (bond 2014) and the fair value of the cross-currency interest rate swap (bond 2017).

A 10 % appreciation of the Euro against USD would have changed the hedging reserve accounted for in equity by EUR 8,2 million (previous year: EUR 1,9 million). A devaluation of the Euro would have had the equal but opposite effect on equity.

Liquidity risk

Deutsche Post DHL Group ensures a sufficient supply of cash for Group companies at all times via a largely centralized liquidity management system. Deutsche Post Finance B.V. is one of the most important financing entities within the Group. Therefore the Company issued bonds which are fully guaranteed by Deutsche Post AG.

Credit risk

In general the Company only grants intra Group loans. The risk of default on loans granted to Deutsche Post DHL group companies is limited due to the financing support which, where circumstances require it, will be expressed by Deutsche Post AG to these group companies to support them in their ability to repay its liabilities towards Deutsche Post Finance B.V. All derivative assets are concluded with Deutsche Post AG.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the company's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the company's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.
