MODIFICATIONS TO THE BASE PROSPECTUS

1. The section entitled “Summary of the Programme relating to Non-Exempt PD Notes – Section B – Issuers” beginning on page 4 of the Base Prospectus shall be deleted and restated as follows:

“Section B – Issuers

Element	Title
B.1	Legal and commercial name of the Issuers	ING Bank N.V. (the “ Global Issuer ”) ING Bank N.V., Sydney Branch (the “ Australian Issuer ” and together with the Global Issuer, the “ Issuers ”)
B.2	The domicile and legal form of the Issuer, the legislation under which the Issuer operates and its country of incorporation	The Global Issuer is a public limited company ( naamloze vennootschap ) incorporated under the laws of The Netherlands on 12 November 1927, with its corporate seat ( statutaire zetel ) in Amsterdam, The Netherlands.  The Australian Issuer is the Sydney, Australia branch of the Global Issuer and is not a stand-alone or separately incorporated legal entity and does not have any share capital.
B.4b	A description of any known trends affecting the Issuers and the industries in which they operate	The results of operations of the Global Issuer (including the Australian Issuer) are affected by demographics and by a variety of market conditions, including economic cycles, banking industry cycles and fluctuations in stock markets, interest and foreign exchange rates, political developments and client behaviour changes.  In 2014, the development trajectories of the US and the UK on the one hand, and Europe on the other, diverged. The US economy continued to grow steadily and the Federal Reserve (Fed) was able to end part of its unconventional monetary policies, the monthly buying of securities (i.e. quantitative easing). The Fed is expected to start raising rates sometime in 2015. The UK also saw healthy economic growth with interest rate increases expected there in 2015 as well.

Element	Title
		Meanwhile in the eurozone, the recovery remained weak, unstable and uneven. Persistently low inflation and worries about imminent deflation prompted the European Central Bank (ECB) to take a series of unconventional measures. The main refinancing rate was lowered to 0.05 percent in 2014, while the interest rate on deposits held by banks at the ECB moved into negative territory, to -0.2 percent.. With the European economic recovery still distinctly lacklustre, the last quarter of 2014 saw the ECB repeatedly allude to possible additional measures in 2015. Quantitative easing was subsequently announced in January 2015. The operations of the Global Issuer (including the Australian Issuer) are exposed to fluctuations in equity markets. The Issuers maintain an internationally diversified and mainly client-related trading portfolio. Accordingly, market downturns are likely to lead to declines in securities trading and brokerage activities which it executes for customers and, therefore, to a decline in related commissions and trading results. In addition to this, the Issuers also maintain equity investments in their own non-trading books. Fluctuations in equity markets may affect the value of these investments. The operations of the Global Issuer (including the Australian Issuer) are exposed to fluctuations in interest rates. The Issuers' management of interest rate sensitivity affects the results of their operations. Interest rate sensitivity refers to the relationship between changes in market interest rates on the one hand and future interest earnings and economic value of its underlying banking portfolios on the other hand. Both the composition of the Issuers' assets and liabilities and the fact that interest rate changes may affect client behaviour in a different way than assumed in the Issuers' internal models may result in a mismatch which causes the banking longer term operations' net interest income and trading results to be affected by changes in interest rates. The Global Issuer (including the Australian Issuer) is exposed to fluctuations in exchange rates. The Issuers' management of exchange rate sensitivity affects the results of their operations through the trading activities for their own accounts and because ING Bank prepares and publishes its consolidated financial statements in Euros. Because a substantial portion of the Issuers' income and expenses is denominated in currencies other than Euros, fluctuations in the exchange rates used to translate foreign currencies into Euros will impact their reported results of operations and cash flows from year to year. This exposure is mitigated by the fact that realised results in non-euro currencies are translated into Euros by monthly hedging.
